Dear Jules:

This is another foundation we may want to consider for BICC support. I understand their main mission is to give money for the help of youth but we might be able to work out something. Bill Wachenfeld is a Vice President at Prudential, and I have known him personally for quite some time.

I will be glad to help if and when you wish.

Sincerely yours,

Vice President & Cashier

Foundation aids Newark youth groups

The Charles Hayden Foundation of New York City, in its annual report for 1971, yesterday announced $3,348,375 in grants to a variety of charitable organizations during the year.

In the metropolitan Newark area, grants totaled $295,000 including $60,000 for the Newark Boys' Club, $45,000 for Integrity, Inc., toward the purchase and renovation of its facilities and $45,000 for the Milt Campbell Center for renovation of its Bergen and Camden street buildings in Newark.

The foundation was established in 1937 to aid boys and young men, and grants totaling $68,649,207 have been awarded in the past 34 years.

William T. Wacheofeld of Essex Fells, foundation president, said preference for grants is given to institutions and organizations concerned with the mental, moral and physical development of youth in the metropolitan areas of New York City and Boston.
